The Luangwa River is one of Africa's remaining undammed, free-flowing rivers and this gives rise to its famous ox-bow lagoons (wafwa's) which in the dry season offer grazing and water that attracts its bountiful wildlife. Endemic species include the Thornicroft's giraffe (the LZNP has no giraffe), the Cookson's wildebeest (the LZNP has no wildebeest) and Africa's largest concentration of hippos. Predators include lion, leopard, hyena and wild dog.

CONSERVATION

Without wildlife and habitat we have nothing to offer.

Without buy-in from the local communities and Government the wildlife and habitat have little prospects for the future. And so at all our camps you will see a holistic approach to conservation, the big picture, where your visit helps us lobby Government, educate and empower local communities, and ensure a more secure future for the wildlife and habitats we revere, enjoy and protect.
